IN DEDICATION

Camille Visconti

"CLAIR"

Emery DeBeck

"BIG D"

We the class of 1990 dedicate our yearbook in honor of two very deserving people; Mr. Emery DeBeck and Ms. Camille Visconti. They have been equal in their loyalty and service to our class during their four years as advisors. We feel that our success has been largely due to their efforts. What has made them so special has been their interaction on the personal as well as professional level. They have touched some members of the class so closely that some refer to Ms. Visconti as "Clair" and Mr. DeBeck as "Big D."

From the classroom and the guidance office to out of school, Mr. DeBeck and Ms. Visconti have sacrificed their time beyond the usual "Call of Duty." They have demonstrated a real sense of caring and patience with us. It is with great pride that we can at this time repay some of what has been given to us by dedicating our book of memories to CLAIR and BIG D.

Sincerely,

The Class of 1990

BEHIND THE SCENES.....

No one is really prepared for life. Sure, there's the rush of anticipation and excitement, the thrill of being able to do new things and meet new people. That's all part of the idea of growing up. Remember the time when high school was just a glimmer in the distance, a vague vision of the future? Slowly, we moved through the initial years of elementary school, and then began the more intense, bigger league of junior high. Those were the days...when life was really easy, remember?

Then came that fateful day that we all entered high school. We saw older kids dating, driving cars, and going to parties every weekend. The things we saw enticed us toward new and previously unknown horizons. However, all was not fun and games as we had thought in the very beginning. Hard work was expected from us with (what we thought was) no rhyme or reason. High school was a lot more work than we ever thought it would be. We were little freshmen, the school "babies," not knowing what to expect. We thought high school would be easy. Boy, were we wrong. High school made both elementary and junior high school seem like a picnic in the park on a warm summer afternoon.

We moved on from that first year with a lot of experiences; some good, some bad. But no matter what they were, they opened our eyes and gave us our first taste of the "real world" that we would have to become part of one day. As the years progressed, we struggled to meet project deadlines that every teacher seemed to make at the busiest times of the year. We handled the stress of mid-year and final exams. We experienced both the limelight of the honor roll and the loneliness of the detention hall. We felt the joy of success and the disappointment of defeat. We were growing up.

.....AND BEYOND

With what little free time we managed to squeeze out of our busy schedules, we sought out one activity or another. The activities we joined gave us a feeling that we were not just a bunch of "nobodies" walking through the halls of the school; by joining activities, we felt like we really belonged. The activities gave us an escape from the stress and anxiety of school work, projects, and tests. In their own ways, activities demanded as much from us as our classes did. We had to be just as determined and dedicated to our activities in order to achieve success.

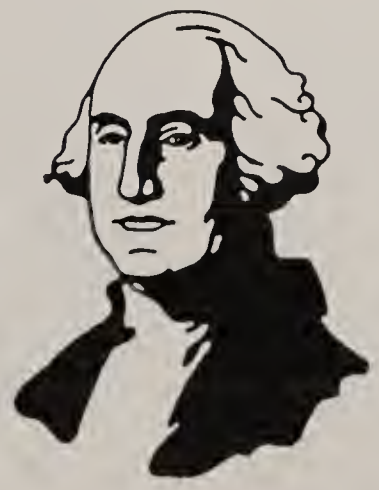

Each of these activities had a final outcome that was a direct result of "Behind the Scenes" work. In a sport, the victory only occured after many weeks of intensely difficult practice. A play or musical was performed only after long hours of dedication and hard work. Impressions Magazine and High Happenings were printed only after laborious nights of writing and editing. All that preparation was essentially more important than the final outcome. It was the dedication and determination displayed in trying to do the best job in order to produce the best work that really prepared us for the real world.

All of our high school experiences have played a part in shaping our dreams for our futures. Now we stand on the brink of our destinies. For some of us, the future holds a college education. For others, it holds the pursuit of the business and industrial world. Who knows what will become of us after graduation? Who knows where tomorrow will lead us? But no matter what happens to us in our futures, we will use all of what we have learned about life and go beyond, to understand the rhyme and reason of what has transpired at RMHS, and to follow our dreams.

The 1989 Reading High Rocket football team conducted itself with pride throughout an extremely difficult season. It gained an unexpected win in a suspenseful game against Belmont, and defeated Watertown. Leading the team were three very talented senior captains, Eric Dykeman, Joe Miller, and Eric Swindle. Dykeman made impressive plays as quarterback, while Miller served as a key defensive player. Swindle was without a doubt one of the best running backs gaining yard after yard and scoring point after point. Other outstanding seniors included Brian Paglia, Patrick DiNino, and Mark Westwater. The captains for the 1990 season will be Dana Dixon and John Catalogna.

Out to win

Nineteen Eighty-Nine was a year of change for RMHS Field Hoekey. Who said ehange wasn't favorable? First of all, former JV eoaeh Laurie Gibbons replaeed Gigi Breed as Varsity coach. Seeondly, the impressive goalie Meghan Griesmer traded plaees with Derilyn Kenney, who in turn played the field. On a more melancholy note, there was no freshman team. Therefore, a substantial amount of freshmen played on the junior varsity team.

The season started amid the heat of September. Optimistic attitudes arose as Reading tied with Belmont, 0-0. Reading eontinued to look impressive with a 2-0 win over Woburn. The season eontinued with both defeats and victories. Left-wing Courtney Foley demonstrated remarkable talent throughout the season, being responsible for countless goals scored against our opponents.

Perhaps the elimax of the season was the second game against the league ehampion, Watertown. The final score was 2-0 in favor of the opponent, however Reading exhibited ineredible defense. Reading ended its season with 6-8-4, plaeing sixth in the league.

Next year should be the turning point for RMHS Field Hockey. The underelassmen appear quite strong. The junior varsity team has some fine talent and emerging leaders. It seems safe to predict Reading as a tournament eontender in the near future.

Norman Hall's fancy footwork

Things got off to a rocky start for the 1989 Boys Soccer team. After notching a 2-1 come-from-behind victory over an always tough Belmont, the team dropped four out of the next five league matches, two of which were to the two traditional powerhouses, Wakefield and Winchester. The battered Reading team went to win 2 ont of the next three contests, losing to perenial rival Lexington. Thc team was thankful to emerge from the first half of the season with a 4-5 record.

The turning point in the entire season came when the Rockets surmounted a 1-0 deficit and went on to beat Woburn, 2-1. After such an uplifting victory, the team went to beat future Division I State Champion Wakefield, and in doing so, handed them their only defeat of the season. Once they had disposed of the rest of the league and finished out the second half with a 7-0-3 record, the players looked ahead with anticipation. They had just secured the first Rocket Tourney-Berth in two years.

When tournament action opened on November 1st at Parker Middle School, coach Phil Vaccaro decided late in the second half of the game to change his strategy to playing four forwards to go for the win. The hunch payed off. With two minutes and forty seconds left in the game, Peter Scarpa recorded his third goal of the game and propelled the Rockets on to an exciting 3-2 victory.

Moving on to the quarter-final round of North Sectionals, Reading found itself facing the Catholic Central League Champion, Bishop Fenwick. In a hard-fought contest, Reading etched out a 1-0 victory. Richard Curley scored the point on a penalty kick, resulting from a deliberate goal-saving attempt by a Fenwick player which was called a hand-ball.

Going farther than any other previous Reading team, the Rockets moved on to play the Sectional Semi-final game against future Division II State Champion, Framingham-North. An epic battle ensued and the Rockets, in a two-day, ten-overtime match (that will forever be remembered in state soccer history), finally succumbed to Framingham in a penalty shot round.

Almost out

This year's team improved a great deal during the course of the season. While playing in the Middlessex League is always tough, the team made major strides toward being competitive with the league's top teams.

The team's overall record, 2-13-3, was no way indicative of the way the team played. The team lost three games in a row by one goal. These games could have gone either way. The highlights of the season were the historic first goal ever by Reading against Winchester, and the come-from-behind tie against Belmont.

The team was led by Co-Captains Lisa Hopkins and Alyssa Gould. Alyssa was named a Middlessex League All-Star. The team's leading scorer was Dawn Woodland, who scored eight goals this season, becoming the school's all-time leading scorer.

The girls can be proud of what they have accomplished this season. The program has taken definite strides toward upward movement in the league. The girls played with confidence and commitment. Hard work and a positive attitude were trademarks of this team. It has set the foundation for future teams

Goin' for the gold

The Boys Cross Country team had another sueeessful season, building up an impressive 8-1 reeord. They were undefeated going into the last meet, and had a ehance of beeoming the Middlesex League Champions, but lost to Lexington. Co-Captains Tom Fuller and John Ahern led the team to a second place finish in the Middlesex League meet and had stong performances in every dual meet. Also having strong showings during the season were seniors Phil Martinelle, Ryan O'Donnell, and Peter Kohalmi. This years runners competing in the state competition were Aaron Bates, John Ahern, Tom Fuller, Phil Martinelle, Ryan O'Donnell, Peter Manson, and Sean Olsen. Next year, the boys team should continue to be near the top of the league.

The girls Cross Country team finished off the 1989 season with a league record of 4-3. Each of these losses were very close. Only a few points could have changed a 4-3 season into a 7-0 season. But on October 31, at the League Meet at Woburn, the girls team showed its strength as they ran to victory over the entire league. Amy Harootian, one of the two captains, was the top finisher for Reading. Out of all the runners in the league, Amy placed second. Co-Captain Kim Coakley finished just out of the top ten, placing twelfth. Sophomore Katrina Bates followed closely behind, placing thirteenth. A very strong group of Reading runners finished quickly after. They were Lisa Memmolo, Julie Crispo, Jenn Gregorio, Danielle Connolly, and Kim Carroll. Cross Country is a team sport as well as a individual sport. The Reading girls team could not have won this meet without the help of the entire team. They could not have done so well this season without the support of the team by each individual member of the team.

Dave and Steve get one last shot

The RMHS Golf Team had a very successful season, finishing with 11 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie. This record qualified the team for competition in a state tournament.

Co-Captains Steve Tomasello and Bob Halloran each had fine seasons on the Rocket team, earning honorable mention All-Star titles. Dave Fardon also had a successful season, scoring 5th out of 80 contenders at the qualifying round, All League Team, and at the State Individual Finals. Andy Wood won 13 out of the 15 matches this season, and along with Brian Eddy and Mike Tomasello, shows great potential for the upcoming seasons.

The seniors would like to wish good luck to next year's team and to thank Coach Dick Gillis for his help which was greatly appreciated by the whole team.

The first three swim meets included a 3-point loss to Burlington. As fate would have it, that was the closest that we would come to winning a meet all year. A six point loss to Melrose was the second closest. Our last dual competition meet was against Beverly. They had a huge co-ed team with a long and winning history. Even though we knew that it was a hopeless match, we still cheered on our teammates, and swam as well as we were able. The competition we felt was each individual against his best time. Beverly was a team which helped us learn to pace ourselves. Consequently our times began to improve.

At the beginning of the year, we had two stars, Rodrigo Bejarano and Kris Grabarek. But by the end of the year, we had built a team with some depth, and so when the league meet came we were ready to challenge some of the teams we had lost to previously. At the league meet we came in fifth out of six. Considering that we were a first year team, this was an achievement that has us all looking forward to next year.

"Is the water eold?"

In the beginning...

In its seeond season, Reading Girls Swimming took third place in the Middlesex League, with a reeord of 5-2. Led by co-captains Mieka Driseoll and Erin Croft, the Roekettes went undefeated in their first four meets. Then, the Roekettes faeed Belmont, the long-time league ehampions. Though it was a hard-fought meet on the part of Reading, Belmont eon-tinued to remain on top. When faced with Winches-ter, the Reading girls displayed their best seasonal times in seven of the eleven events, just falling short of vietory.

Seniors Mieka Driseoll, Erin Croft, and Jen Forest were outstanding swimmers for the Reading team. Freshman Barbara Hiekey displayed exeellent pro-mise throughout the season as well. With her help and a valiant team effort, Reading Girls Swimming will continue in it's suecess.

The 1989-1990 R.M.H.S. Hockey Team was, to many, a surprisingly successful team. With the help of a 15 game undefeated streak the Rockets captured the Middlesex League title outright. The team's backbone was senior goalkeeper Steve Tomasello who kept opposition goals to an average of less than 2 goals per game. The second goalkeeper Damon Long also logged a considerable amount of time and kept his G.A. to less than 2 per game. Backup Junior Mark Richards and Sophomore Adam DeAngelis were also very strong between the pipes. The first line consisted of the two big senior wingers Bob Mercant and Dave George who were co-captains of the team and center Sophmore Mike Sullivan. The second line consisted of senior wingers Charlie Williams and John Lonergan who both enjoyed the physical aspect of the game. They were centered by Junior Paul Sumner. The third line was centered by Sophomore J.J. Moore and the wings were Sophmore Dean Fitzgerald and the hardworking senior Matt Healy. The 4th line was centered by Steve Shattuck who was sidelined most of the season due to an injury but who came back strong and contributed nicely to the team. His wingers were junior Fran McHugh and Sophomore Dan Carrigan. The defense was anchored by two seniors, Greg Moore and Brian Nestor, who both proved to be steady and consistent defensemen. Behind them were Juniors Tom Quinn, Bill Rooney, Dave McLaughlin, and Sophomore Eddy Hunter. The masterminds behind the team were Head Coach Peter Doherty and Assistant Coach Paul Bekkenhuis, with the faithful manager John Warnock and the No. 1 fan Dicky Doucette were there to cheer the Rockets on.

The Wrestling Team went into this year's season with high expectations. The results were satisfactory. The first dual meet (in the Middlesex League) was against Winchester. The win was ours but Winchester went on to become the League champs. Matt and Jon Taylor were chosen to go on to the State Meets. Matt Taylor took first place in the Division I North section with brother Jon in fourth place. Pat O'Malley and Tom Zwicker landed fifth place.

Next year Tom Zwicker and Matt Prudente are expected to be strong contenders.

Onee again the team had a great season. We were crowned Middlesex League, State Class B, and State Relay Champions. We sueeessfully completed the year undefeated in every dual meet for the ninth year in a row. This is an outstanding record, and it is not an easy task to live up to the reputation each year. We must give most of the credit to coach Hal Croft. Every year we have a good deal of talent, but that alone does not win state meets. Coach Croft brings our talents to its best and even brings out talents that were never even acknowledged.

We had a very well-balanced team, with one or two outstanding performers in each event. This year, eighteen students qualified for state events. We came away with eight medals for the team, and seven qualifiers for the All-State meet. In that meet, three students placed in each of their events, and the relay team also placed. Our track team boasts of having an All-Star athlete in eight out of the ten events for the entire Middlesex League Track (two of them top All-Stars). Our track team worked hard to earn our position, and we are looking forward to reaehing even greater heights in future years.

The people who placed in States, Class B, are: Luke McPherson (2nd--300), David Ryan (1st--600), Rob O'Donnell (3rd--1000), Eric Swindle (1st--shotput), John Toth (4th--mile), Aaron Bates (5th--2 mile), and the relay team of Fred Lanzoni, Rob O'Donnell, Luke McPherson, and David Ryan (1st place). All of them competed in the All-State meet, with David Ryan placing fourth in the 600, Eric Swindle placing 2nd in the shot put, Luke MePherson placing sixth in the 300, and the relay team of Zack Nightingale, Rob O'Donnell, Luke McPherson, and David Ryan placing sixth. In the state relays this year, the team placed first in the 4x400 yard, 4x200 yard, and 4x800 yard relays. We placed second in the sprint Medly, third in the shot put, and fifth in the shuttle dash.

The Reading Rockets Basketball team had another rough year under coach Bill Carroll. The Reading hoopsters wound up 5 wins-15 losses overall and eighth place in the Middlesex League. But this record was not representative of the quality of play exhibited by this Rocket team.

The young and inexperienced Rockets were led by co-captains Rick Corey and Pat DiNino (an All-Star), both of whom had varsity experience from the past year. Quality, leadership, and strong play were demonstrated by seniors Sean Silva and Mike Hickey. Junior Shawn Garner, another returning varsity member, and juniors Mike McSweeney and Rich Curley all had tremendous years for the Rockets. Sophomore sensations Matt Connelly and Dennis Brearley had excellent seasons and received quality playing experience for the coming years. Sophomore Mike Driscoll and juniors Corey Welford and Scott Losinger gained valuable experience while splitting time between varsity and junior varsity.

The first half of the season was a time for the Rockets to gain experience and learn to play together. The Rockets gained first half wins by defeating Woburn and Stoneham. But the second half of the year was a different story. Things began to improve and the Rockets beat Burlington, Lexington, and Stoneham while giving a challenging performance in games against tournament-bound Wakefield, Watertown, Winchester, and Lynn English teams. Looking at the strong leadership of seniors DiNino, Corey, Silva, and Hickey, and the strong finish the Rockets had, one can only wait for next year.

The 1989-1990 Girls Basketball season ended on a positive note, with a total of seven wins this season.

The season came to a close with the Reading Rockettes pitted against the Stoneham Spartans. After a previous loss earlier in the season to the opposing team, the Rockettes pulled together to combine talent, effort, stamina, and enthusiasm to beat the Spartans the second time around. Among the other great games the team played and won were those against Melrose and Malden.

The girls played hard all season and never let themselves or their team down. With the help of Coach Leyden, next season should be even more productive and victorious.

The Reading Boys Gymnastics Team shocked the league with their improvement. They were a relatively young team consisting mostly of freshmen and juniors. Senior Captain Tom Hurford lead the team on the rings.

The season started with a big meet against Burlington, which was defeated by Reading 89.6 to 86.35. This was the first time in about fifteen years that Reading had beat Burlington. The season went on to four more wins, a tie and two losses, a better record than had been obtained in the past few years. With help of Reading coaches, Tom Myslicki and Joe Castelli, The Rockets improved the team score almost 20 points over the course of the season.

The team represented itself well at the League meet in Andover by capturing medals in almost every event. On the rings Captain John Hurford earned third place with Dan Hahn following close behind in fourth place. Junior Matt Beaulieu took fifth place in the All-Around including fourth place on the pommel-horse, fifth on high bar and fourth on the floor. Junior Jason Russo topped Beaulieu on the floor by three tenths for third place, Junior John Trainor nabbed sixth place. On parallel bars, Dan Hahn placed sixth, but was outdone by Dan Ruth for fifth place.

The team missed qualifying for the state meet by a single point but had a good number of representatives who qualified as individuals. They included Dan Ruth on parallel bars, John Fitzgerald on pommel horse. Jason Russo competed in the floor exercise and on the vault. Matt Beaulieu competed as an All- Around. Tom Hurford and Dan Hahn represented Reading on the rings. Hurford surprised himself by earning sixth place with an outstanding routine.

This past season was a rebuilding year for the Rockettes. Although a 0-7 record did not bring a lot of honor to the school we had a fun season. The newcomers to the team had a chance to get some valuable experience to help the team in the upcoming seasons.

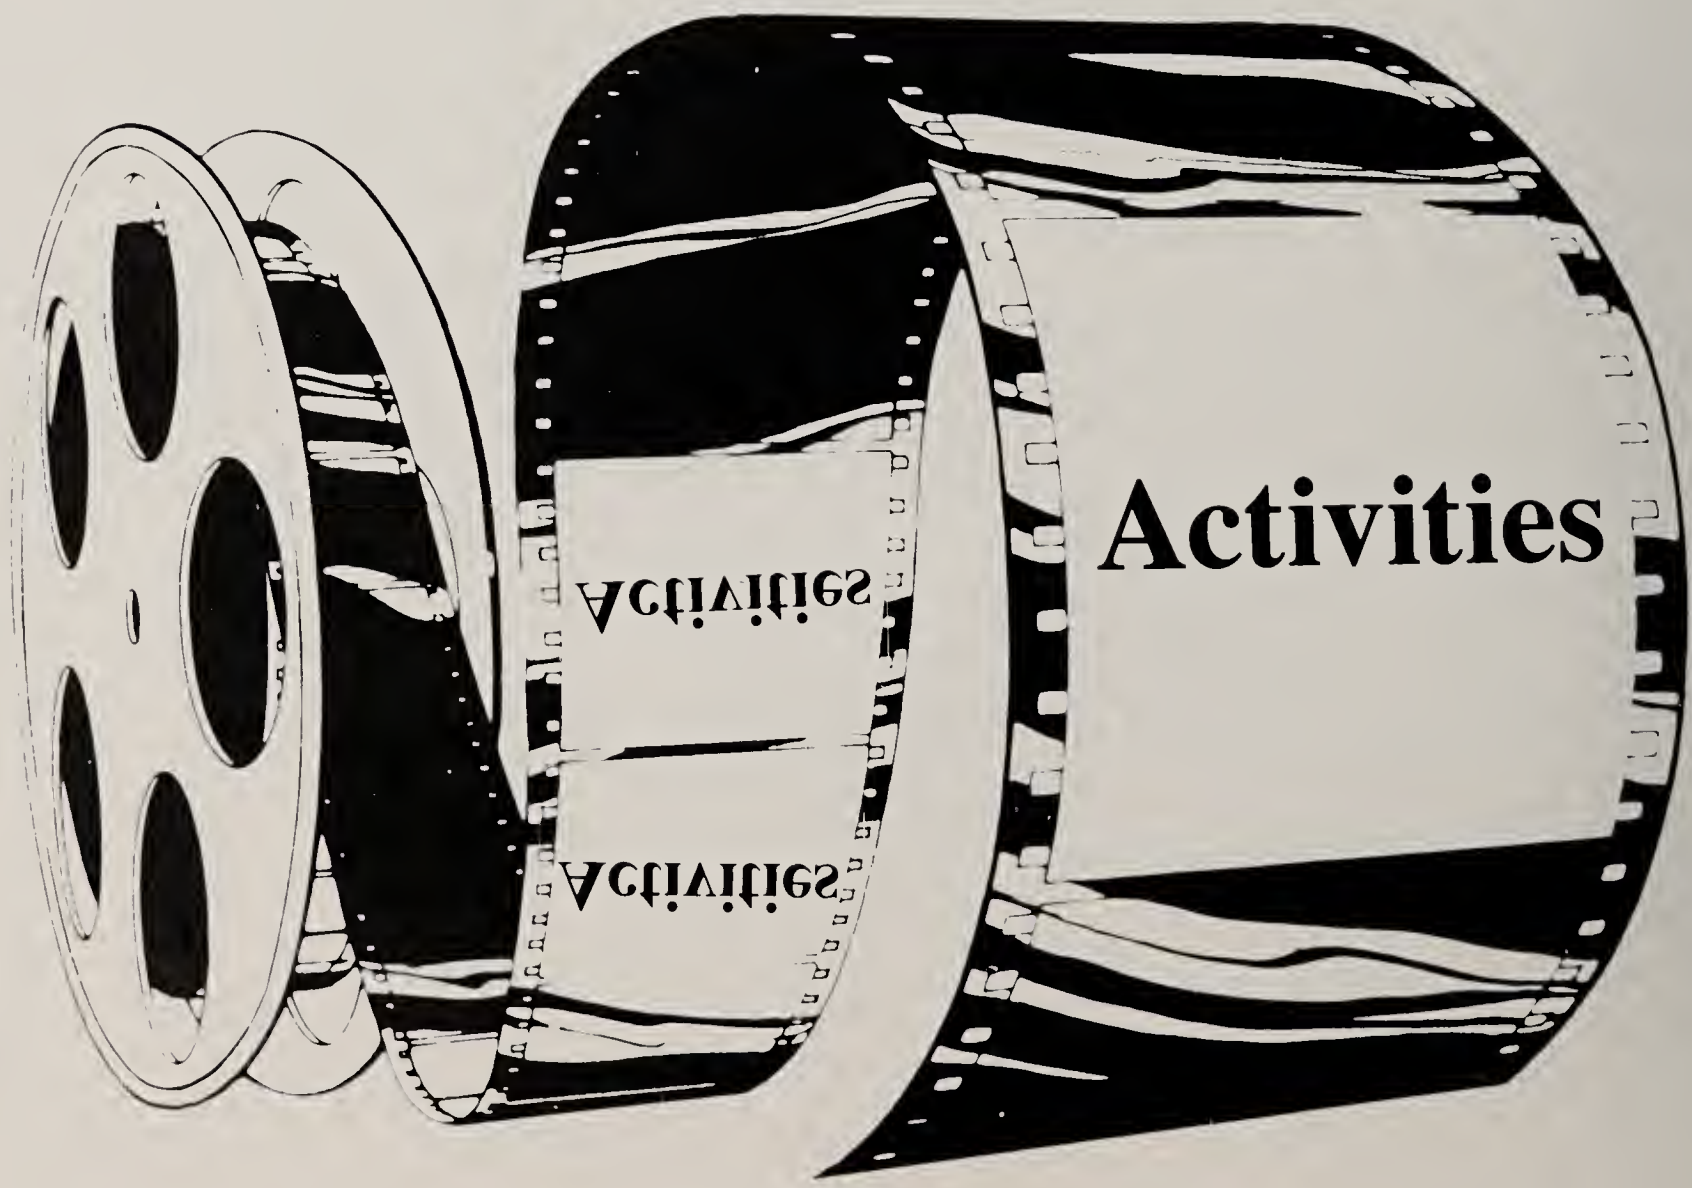

Ending the season with a successful League meet hosted by Coach Alan Beaulieu in Reading's own Hawkes Field House satisfied the optimistic Reading gymnasts.

With the continuing help of coaches Alan Beaulieu and Joe Castilli the Rockette gymnasts have a hope of promising seasons in the future.

After a spectacular sweep of awards at the North American Music Festival in Pennsylvania last year, the RMHS Marching, Concert, and Jazz Bands returned to a new season and new achievements. Starting in the fall season, the band competed in five New England Scholastic Band Association (NESBA) competitions. On October 8th the band showed that it had what it took to be one of the best, placing third and receiving a bronze medal at the Methuen competition. At the Manchester-West/Portsmouth competition on October 15th in New Hampshire, the band slipped from its spot in a top three position, receiving only a bronze medal for that day. But the disappointment did not last long, and the band quickly bounced back from defeat in time for the Haverhill/Andover competition on October 22nd. After an uplifting performance, the band left the competition elated, receiving yet another bronze medal and placing third. The band's drum major for two years, senior Rene Bergeron, was a step above the rest, being named best drum major for the day. As fate would have it, the band was on their way upwards. On October 29th at the North Reading/Triton competition, the band placed second, received their fourth bronze medal, and Rene Bergeron was named best drum major a second time. The climax of the fall marching season came on November 5th at Boston University. An exhilarating performance earned a silver medal for the band, placing them fourth out of nine competing bands in their division, with only two tenths of a point separating them and the band in third place.

This years accomplishments would not have been possible without the time, effort, and dedication of certain members of the band. Rene Bergeron deserves recognition for being the force that drove the band to success both on and off the field this fall with her determination and strength. In addition, the section leaders must also be thanked for their time and effort, scheduling extra practices and helping others to learn the music when it was most needed. And last but most certainly not least, appreciation goes out to the band officers who along with band director Mr. David Bunten, plan activities, fundraisers, and other activities that make the band more like a family than just another extra-curricular activity.

With the coming of the snow came the band's annual winter concert. At this concert was the first appearance of the high school concert and jazz bands this year. In addition, a small ensemble known as the brass choir performed at various places in the school on the last day before Christmas vacation, playing Christmas carols in the Superintendents Office, the Attendance Office, and the cafeteria.

The concert band plans to take part in the MICA Concert Band Competitions in the late winter-early spring season. The jazz band is looking forward to a few competitions of their own, the Berklee and the Northeast District Jazz Festivals among them. And in May, seniors Peter McGillicuddy and Jennifer Toth will take a five-day trip and participate in the Lion's All-State Band, an annual event in which two students from the band are chosen each year.

Everyone worked hard to make this year the best the band has ever seen. Lots of luck to the graduating senior, who will all be missed greatly, and to all those that will return next year for more of the same.

A student advisory council meeting is somewhat of an inquisition of Dr. Piechota. Some questions or statements asked are: "Why can't we park in the white spaces:", "Can you please choose which girls lav you want open?", "Who chooses the cafeteria menu?", "People are smoking in the school again!", or some of us ask "why can't we smoke?" Once all the complaining is completed, we have always found solutions. We have found solutions for the supertendent's office and seniors can now find parking spaces in the lower parking lot. Also this year was the first time that students were not allowed to use the back parking lot and the reactions from the students was great because they didn't fumigate the bathrooms between each period. However, the biggest issue that has to be dealt with this year will not even affect the graduating seniors of 1990.

In January it had become evident that the town would have to make cuts in the school budget. As I participated in two months of school committee hearings, it became clear that, with the end of the old decade will go the quality of our school. Classes, sports, and extracurricular activities were all stated to be eliminated and with real class the class of '90 took up the lead to try and override proposition 2 1/2. Each time the budget was discussed at a school committee meeting a group of students was always there.

Thomas Fuller

Once again showing how truly interested we were in our town.

Thomas Fuller

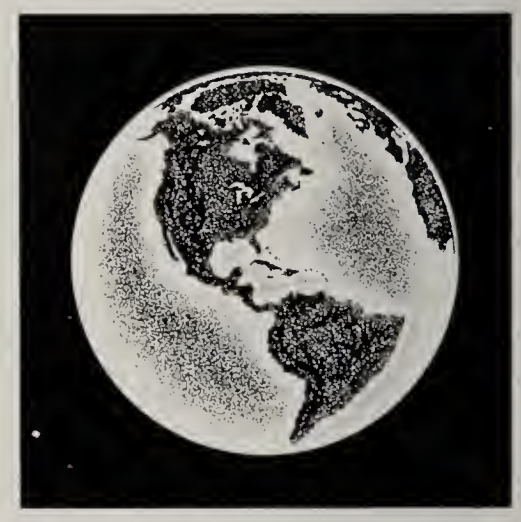

Editors' Note:

The position of the Student Advisory Council (SAC) President is very important and beneficial to the student body at RMHS. Through this student, the school committee learns of problems and questions the student body has, which helps the school committee to take the opinions of the students into consideration when deciding the future of the high school and its student body. Although the SAC President cannot vote, he/she can, and often does, speak to the school committee members and to the audience that attends the school committee meetings, bringing up points of interest and possible ways to solve problems that the students of RMHS might have. Since students have very little opportunity to talk with members of the school committee, it is definitely beneficial to the student body of RMHS to have the president of SAC working with the school committee on their behalf.

The RMHS Drama Club's state festival entry in 1990 was NICHOLAS NICKLEBY, SCHOOLMASTER by Tim Kelly. Adapted from the novel, NICHOLAS NICKLEBY by Charles Dickens, this one-act play deals with Nicholas' adventures in his first job.

In the play, Nicholas is hired by a man named Wackford Squeers to be a schoolmaster at the Squeer's boarding school. In the time Nicholas spends at the school, he finds the conditions to be appalling and the Squeers to be ignorant and cruel. He eventually rebels and leaves the boarding school, and the students follow his lead--but not without first giving Wackford Squeers and his wife their just desserts.

Earscelle Wilkerson

For twenty four years, the Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity (METCO) has been working to provide the opportunity for an integrated public school education for urban black and other minority children from racially imbalanced schools in Boston.

Here in Reading, that goal has been accomplished and more. Our students from Boston have grown and developed academically, athletically, and socially. Through their friendships, they have helped to foster a cross-cultural awareness that benefits both the Boston and the Reading communities. They have benefited from the educational opportunity and have helped to provide a richer, more diverse learning experience for their Reading classmates.

As we bid farewell to our seniors, we must recognize the determination and dedication necessary to participate in this program. These students have negotiated a demanding daily schedule, rising at five in the morning and sometimes not getting home until eight or nine at night. They have learned to represent their unique background and heritage with pride. We are proud of them and their accomplishments and we wish them the best of luck.

The Reading METCO Staff:
Mr. Earscelle Wilkerson, Coordinator
Mrs. Brenda McMillan, Tutor / Counselor
Mrs. Elnora Jones, Elementary schools bus monitor and teacher aide
Mrs. Janice Chinn Green, Secondary schools bus monitor and teacher aide

Focus is an Alternative Education Program within Reading Memorial High School that helps students learn how to make decisions through counseling, peer support, and realistic goal setting in school and in other areas of their lives. It helps the students to focus on change, with a positive attitude towards school by individual and group counseling. It improves the students academic performance by focusing on learning with positive reinforcement. Focus strives to acknowledge and encourage the individual talents of the student in a supportive and enjoyable environment.

A FOND FAREWELL...

After working a short time in Laconia, New Hampshire, and a much longer time at New Prep in Cambridge, Richard Benshimol came to Reading to spend his last ten years teaching English in the classrooms of RMHS.

His Harvard degree and private school teaching added a new dimension to the RMHS English Department. Not only did students now have an English teacher impeccably groomed in a suit and tie every day, they also had an English teacher who presented them with a blue book of grammer rules--never to be forgotten--and with lectures they knew they had to absorb if they were to pass his course.

However, Mr. Benshimol was more than a suit and a tie, more than grammer books and lectures; he was a model of hard work, frequently being the last faculty member to leave the school. And behind the professional appearance was a joke or a tale or a smile for any student or faculty member who needed the cheer. Students and faculty alike will miss Mr. Benshimol's familiar figure in the corridors of RMHS.

Sally Stembridge started teaching English in Reading in 1955. During that period of time, she has touched the lives of over 4,760 students (and has probably corrected over 171,360 essays!). She has broken in four principals, six department heads, and countless assistant principals.

Miss Stembridge has been a symbol of stability at RMHS. The light in her room was always one of the first to shine and welcome students in the morning. And students always knew what to expect from her classes because she taught a no-nonsense course--the curriculum as described. Students who signed up to learn British Literature learned British Literature; her philosophy was as pure as that. Moreover, Miss Stembridge embodied the qualities of a real English teacher. Not only did she encourage her students to read, she is a voracious reader. Not only did she teach writing, she is a published writer. Her organization and efficiency brought order to the world of everyone around her.

There is no place Miss Stembridge goes today that she does not run into former students--they pump gas into her car, cash out her groceries, check her in at the hospital. Her longevity in the English Department of RMHS assures her of a friendly familiar face at every turn of her life, for it is with respect and fondness that Miss Stembridge's students and colleagues will remember her.

AN EDITOR'S SIGH

From early morn to late at night
A yearbook staff took on the fight
To bring to press the galleys and blues
That chronicled steps made by nineties shoes
From sports to profiles we focused and shot
To capture for always the things that we ought weekends and holidays were spent right in here
Forgoing those things that we use to hold dear
Our hearts aflutter as each deadline drew near
The completion of the pages was our greatest fear
The computer caught cold and exams slowed us down
The rep's coming in and there are no editors around
But somehow we made it all neat in its crate
So deadlines be damned for we were never too late
Now kinder and classmates and faculty too
The yearbook's arrived for you from the crew

Dear Classmates,

It is difficult to believe, but we have finally reached the end of our high school years. Very soon the memories that now seem so vivid will fade. This book was created to keep alive the memories we have had. As themes were being conceived, we tried to focus on those activities which were important to all of us. It was not the final achievement or product that was most memorable, but all the rigorous duties that were needed to attain the final reward.

It was felt that "Behind the Scenes and Beyond" best depicted those high school memories that we would want to remember in the years to come. This book shows all aspects of our high school senior year, the trials, the tribulations, and then the achievement of our final goal, graduation. The knowledge and experience we have gained at RMHS gave us all the promise of a bright future we can look forward to. Good luck to the Class of 1990!

Sincerely yours,

Joanna Grabarek,

Kimberly Anne Bennett-

There is really nothing you must be.
And there is nothing you must do.
There is really nothing you must have.
And there is nothing you must know.
There is really nothing you must become.
However, It helps to understand that fire burns,
and when it rains, the earth gets wet...

Enjoy your life. We love you and are very proud of you.

Dad, Mom, Kristen, Robbie, & Mollie
